

B&MK Waterway Trust Launch New DVD on YouTube

The Bedford and Milton Keynes Waterway Trust have released a new DVD which is available to view on YouTube. <http://www.youtube.com/BMKWT>

It is narrated by local Milton Keynes TV Actor Kevin Whately (Detective Sergeant Lewis in the popular “Morse” series) and features endorsements from:

- Richard Arthur, Chairman of Renaissance Bedford,
- Clifton Ibbett, Founder of the Bedfordia Group,
- Tony Talbot, Director of the Forest of Marston Vale.

The video highlights the proposed route of the waterway leaving Bedford near the Kempston Weir, alongside the new developments at Wootton, through Berry Wood, under the new A421 through a new 30m purpose built tunnel, the design of which, and funding for, has already been agreed, into the Forest of Marston Vale, over Brogborough Hill, under the M1 and into Milton Keynes.

Also highlighted are the regeneration opportunities surrounding the waterway through Marston Vale, and improved leisure use of the River Great Ouse at Bedford.

Last year a similar DVD was released on YouTube featuring the proposed Milton Keynes Waterway Park development. This has had in excess of 860 showings. <http://www.youtube.co.uk/mkwp>

B&MK Waterway Trust Project Director Jane Wolfson (who is also featured on the DVD) says: “We are making great progress – the first section of the waterway through a 30m tunnel under the new A421 has already been designed and is fully funded. The Waterway is in all the local plans, and in Milton Keynes we have planning permission.”

The DVD has been produced by volunteers of the B&MK Waterway Trust with support from local businesses and partners.
